

Action Industries' Locations, Freight Partnerships Provide Logistical Advantage

Cleveland – March 15, 2011 – Action Industries' multiple locations across the country and strategic partnerships with local freight companies allow for cheaper shipping and quicker delivery. With warehouse locations in Cleveland, Tempe, Ariz. and Milwaukee, Wis., Action Industries is able to ship orders throughout North America. The company ships 98 percent of all orders on the same day the order is placed.

Garage door parts such as weatherseals, fasteners, accessories, brushes, retainers and cable products can be expensive to ship. Due to Action Industries' strategic partnerships and multiple locations, these products can be shipped more efficiently.

Action Industries' location in Tempe, and local freight partnerships allow cheaper and faster shipping for long- and short-length products to states in the West and Southwest like New Mexico, Nevada, Texas and California. Additionally, dealers and installers in Tempe, can pick up orders directly from the warehouse, saving time and money.

Warehouses in Ohio allow Action Industries to quickly ship products to locations in the Midwest, Northeast and East Coast. The company's new location in Wisconsin makes it easier for Action Industries to ship to locations in the Northwest and Canada.

"During times of economic recession customers are watching every penny," said Vice President of Operations Marc Calcaterra. "The advantage we have is locations and a network of freight partnerships throughout North America that allow us to deliver our quality products at costs lower than our competitors."

Parts for individual installers and larger manufacturers are easier to get based on Action Industries' logistical advantage. With no minimum orders required, installers are able to get the parts they need, fast. In addition, engineers at Action Industries are skilled in developing custom garage door products based on CAD drawings, prototypes or written specifications. The logistical advantage of Action Industries lets the company develop new products and ship them fast.
